

I started a memorable sequence — it's why no-one led me astray (13, two words): Bandmaster

Starter in Harrogate — one that we had served up with syrup included (13, two words): Thomas family

Inside outside backwards, united with intense desire, almost to the ankles for a starter (13, two words):
Sky Blue Thinking

We had to change course during honeymoon: beginnings of eternal love replace ring, for starters (13, two words): Next year in Jerusalem

Sounding seductive, you mix Scots an appetiser (13, two words): Lost in Transit

Cook stuck with this for the lockdown menu? Yes! (13, two words): Too Many Cooks

With home cooking we initially only need bananas for a juicy starter (13, two words):
Briardene Quizzers

But cold sprat and this mixed with gin and tonic could be seen in Cambridge, Chepstow, London and in Luton yet (13, two words): The Interrobangs

Something sweet suitable for Listener meal's starter, crowd being absent from spread (13, two words):
AVIAN

Sugarplum: Model new concoction for Melbourne's entrée (13, two words): SofaSoGood

Spooner's debt to beautiful woman that's sweet, but seedy (8,5) (13, two words): Team X

Holy women need to sacrifice fruit (13, two words): Odium pictorium!

Which might prove appetising when dole money's blown (13, two words): Zoom and Gloom

New model in buffet, placing sweet before starter (13, two words): Jock's Left Hand